Introduction

Indonesia continues to increase its role and contribution to international development cooperation through South-South and Triangular Cooperation (SSTC). As founder and member of the Non-Aligned Movement (NAM), Indonesia has actively contributed to enhancing development cooperation to NAM member countries through various forms of program in a wide range of sectors, including in education sector.

Indonesia recognizes the importance of advancing human development and capacities through providing educational opportunities that can give access to academic, professional and cultural experiences. Hence, the Government of Indonesia offers scholarships to individuals from NAM member countries to study for selected eligible master's degree at one of Indonesia's leading universities, Universitas Gadjah Mada (UGM) in Yogyakarta, Indonesia.

The Indonesian Government-NAM Scholarships is a program jointly run by Indonesia's Ministry of Foreign Affairs, UGM and NAM Centre for South-South Technical Cooperation (NAM-CSSTC). This is part of the Indonesian Government's efforts to promote international cooperation in achieving Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) in developing countries. By bringing together professionals and scholars from NAM member countries, the scholarship program aims at promoting networks to facilitate creation and sharing of knowledge in solving local and global development challenges.

As part of its commitment to become a world-class university, UGM provides scholarships to international students of full-time Master's Degree. UGM offers, among others, Kemitraan Negara Berkembang (KNB) Scholarship Program, Gadjah Mada International Fellowship Program, Darmasiswa Scholarship Program and others in collaboration with Indonesia's Ministry of Research, Technology, and Higher Education and Ministry of Education and Culture, and other scholarships in collaboration with development partners, such as JICA and AUN/Seed-Net (for further information, please visit <http://www.ugm.ac.id>).

As an institution that further helps developing countries to achieve their development goals, NAM CSSTC believes that the scholarship program for students from developing countries is an important means to enhance and accelerate developing countries' national development, which is in line with the NAM CSSTC's mission.

The accomplishment of this objective will contribute to the realization of the NAM CSSTC's vision, which is to build developing countries' national capacity and collective self-reliance. Furthermore, this scholarship program will contribute to improving the quality of human resources of developing countries and achievement of SDGs, particularly Goal 8 Decent Work and Economic Growth and Goal 16 Peace, Justice and Strong Institutions.

The scholarship will offer international students with a unique experience of Indonesia's higher education institution and multicultural community.
